

Mrs. Pam Hagerbaumer

Third Grade

20 years with St. Peter School

20 years teaching experience

What I like most about teaching at St. Peter School is that we are encouraged to share our Catholic faith with those we hope to inspire.

This unique interaction creates a special bond between the student and the teacher that can last a lifetime and truly can change lives. Ironically, the life that might be changed the most, might be that of the teacher.

Teaching is a very rewarding profession and my teaching style or philosophy is to ensure that every student reaches their academic potential and excellence.

I strive to promote a positive environment where students will be motivated to learn and participate in the learning process. I believe that students need to be encouraged to take responsibility and thus develop pride in their work.

I try to provide unique learning opportunities for my students every day and part of that is making sure they are being active learners. I always try and associate new concepts we are learning with their areas of interest. This keeps them motivated and eager to participate.

My teaching style:

I strive to promote a positive environment where students will be motivated to learn and participate in the learning process.

Get to know me...

I graduated from Western Illinois University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education. I am also endorsed in both language arts and social sciences.

I grew up in Quincy and attended Catholic schools from elementary through high school.

I am married to Jason Hagerbaumer, who works for the Adams County

Highway Department, and we have three children: Craig, Connor, and Allison.